

Photo by Benjamin A. Lewis

Join the Conversation about the Experience of War

Are you a civilian interested in learning more about the experience of veterans in conflict and at home? Or are you a U.S. military veteran, refugee, or immigrant who has experience in conflict?

Please join us for Still Coming Home: Conversations about the Experience of War. In collaboration with the Denver Veterans Writers Workshop, Colorado Humanities collected creative writing by Denver-area writers in the recently published anthology Still Coming Home: Denver Veterans Writing, which will be provided to participants as a shared text to inspire conversation. Talk with the writers and other community members about their experience of war and challenges since returning to civilian life in this three-part, facilitated conversation series. This series of three conversations builds on themes and is meant to be a deeper experience for those who attend all three, but participants are also welcome to attend one or two. Free.

---

March 3, 10, & 17, 2019

2:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Rodolfo "Corky" Gonzales Branch Library
1498 Irving Street, Denver, CO 80204

March 7, 14, & 21, 2019

5:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Ford-Warren Branch Library
2825 High Street, Denver, CO 80205

---

