

Veterans: Share your views on your health care options

Are you a Veteran?

If so, we want to hear about where you get your health care. The Advancing Choices to Improve Veterans' Access, Treatment, and Experiences (ACTIVATE) Study is conducting research using phone interviews with Veterans from across the U.S.

We want to learn what information Veterans use when making health care decisions and how we can improve information provided to Veterans about their health care options.

If you are interested in participating, please contact the ACTIVATE Study at
