VETS2SET

V2S acts as an open door for veterans, helping them jumpstart a career in commercial and entertainment media.

<https://vets2set.org>

Co-founded by David Cohen, Peter Friedman and Colonel (ret) Maureen Weigl, V2S is a not-for-profit organization that provides U.S. military veterans:

- Introduction
- Apprenticeship
- Training
- Meaningful employment in media production

Vets2Set is anchored and led by the deep connections and experience of its team members—who have experience in both the advertising and production industries as well as the U.S. Military and Department of Labor in regard to veteran resource deployment and affairs. With this dynamic set of individuals, V2S is able to successfully provide veterans with unique opportunities that meet their needs. Vets2Set broadens and deepens opportunities it makes available to veterans through the advice and guidance of a council of industry and military leaders willing to offer their expertise and influence to promote the work of the organization.

Vets2Set will maintain a proprietary database of veterans' personal and professional information that a production company needs when staffing a production. Production companies will reach out directly to veterans when a production is starting and will then enlist two veterans for a job. Payment to each veteran is made directly by the production company. Each veteran will fill out a W9 tax form at the start of employment. Each day a time card is filled out and tracked by the production company, same as for all their employees. At the conclusion of the job all appropriate taxes will be deducted, as designated by the veteran, and a check will be sent from the production company directly to the veteran. At no time does any payment come to V2S.
